Knife bayonet for use with the 8 mm. Mauser Kar 98k rifle of the Second World War. This bayonet will also mount to most other Mauser bolt-action rifles that were based on the M1898. The bayonet is an early example, made in 1935. The blade is marked using the letter/number code used from 1934-1937 to keep the maker's identities secret.

Bayonets of Germany 1933-1945

This bayonet was fashioned in this manner by modifying some m28/30 and m28/30/35 bayonets by shortening the blade and modifying the tip to be of a similar shape and length to the Sk.Y contracted m/39 bayonets. With the contracted company Veljekset Kulmalan Konepaja unable to produce enough bayonets of the m/39 type to meet requirements, the m28 ...

Socket bayonet used with the 10.75 mm. (.42 caliber) M1870 (Berdan II) infantry rifle. Patterned after the Swiss M1863 bayonet, the M1870 bayonet has a cruciform blade profile and the, now familiar, screwdriver point. This example is a M1870 infantry bayonet, with the socket cut so as to mount to a bayonet stud on the right side of the barrel.
